

Redwood Drive Haywards Heath, Sussex

01 Open-plan kitchen & breakfast room

02 Despite depth of extension, kitchen and utility room remain light and airy

01

This 1960s house is typical of the town's housing stock. Dwell negotiated consent for a side extension using piled foundations to protect an ancient Yew tree. The original side wall of the house was removed entirely at ground floor level, creating an inviting open-plan kitchen and living space, and housing critical utility functions separately behind.
